

Wind power!

landyacht

windsurfing

handglider

parachute

Wind has been used since ancient times for power. The earliest ships used sails to gain speed. Windmills were built to grind grain into flour and pump water from underground wells. Today wind power is used for recreational activities such as windsurfing as well as generating electricity using wind turbines.

windmill

sailboat

windturbines

kite