

Step by Step Educational Drama

A cross curricular use of Drama in the Primary classroom

By Joanna Parkes & Sarah FitzGibbon

"This book is unique in that every drama activity has been carefully planned to be relevant to the Irish primary curriculum, and each one has been road-tested in specific Irish contexts. The advice and activities presented in this book will give teachers a sense of security as they venture into drama."

– Dr. Cecily O'Neill (world-renowned lecturer and practitioner in the field of drama in education, author of several influential books, including "Drama Worlds")

Step by Step Educational Drama has been written by two of Ireland's most experienced drama practitioners, Joanna Parkes and Sarah FitzGibbon. Between them they have a combined 35 years drama experience working in a wide range of formal and informal educational contexts.

This book contains a collection of their most popular and successful educational drama schemes, which have engaged 70 teachers and over 2000 pupils in 21 schools from inner city Dublin to rural Donegal. The handbook format allows teachers to easily access drama schemes for each age group and check related curriculum links. These creative, practical schemes use a cross-curricular approach to bring the new Primary Drama Curriculum to life in your classroom.

Step by Step is published by the National Association For Youth Drama.

ORDER FORM

Send _____ copies of Step by Step Educational Drama @ €28 per copy + €6 postage. For postage on large orders please contact the NAYD office. (Step by Step is available at the discount rate of €18 + €6 postage for NAYD members.)

Enclosed cheque/postal order to the value of €_____ payable to National Association for Youth Drama

Name: _____

Address: _____

Telephone: _____ Fax: _____

Return to: NAYD, 7 North Great George's Street, Dublin 1. Tel: 01 878 1301
Fax: 01 878 1302 • Email: rhona@nayd.ie • Web: www.nayd.ie