

Onomatopoeia

Onomatopoeia is a literary device
frequently used by authors in writing.

Onomatopoeia is when a word describes a sound and mimics the sound of the object or action to which it is referring.

Onomatopoeia appeals
to the sense of hearing.
Authors use this literary device to bring a story or a poem to life.

Using onomatopoeia in your written work adds sound to the text and helps the reader to create "soundscapes".
